Friday-Mrs. Dults and Mrs. Franken-Governors Message. We are indebted to the Editor of the Progress for a copy of the Massage of Gov. Vance, which has reached us in advance of all other publications. The Message is an able state paper and but for the late hour of its arrival in Charlotte yesterday, it would have appeared in this morning's Bulletin.

We will give place to the most important sections of the Message in to-morrow's

The reports from the line of the Rappahannock, (says the Richmond Enquirer,) indicate that the enemy is abandoning the Piedmont region and sliding down towards Manassas and Fredericksburg .-Some accounts represent Warrenton as cleared of them, and occupied by our troops. The foe seems to be making for deep Ricction of a Member of Congress It is stated that Captain Samuel A. Miller, of the 22d Virginia Regiment, has been elected to Congress, to all the vacan-cy occasioned by the resignation of Hon. A. G. Jenkins.

From Wilmington.

We welcome the Journal once more in its full dimensions. The issue of the 17th SAVE :

THE FEYER. - We learn that there were two new cases this morning, none on Saturday or Sunday-two burials Saturday, one yesterday and two deaths last night. The disease seems to linger. It is dying out, but it dies hard.

From Fredericksburg.

Nothing exciting was received from Fredericksburg on yesterday. Our forces at point stood in readiness all day for an assault from the enemy, but none was made. Col. Ball has informed the citizens that he should defend the place as long as a man was left to aid him. A severe fight is considered imminent.

The movements of the enemy in that quarter indicate a design to make Fred ericksburg a base of operations against Richmond .- Enquirer.

Secretary of War. James A. Seldon Esq., of Goochland county Va., has been appointed Secretary of War, to fill the vacancy occasioned by the resignation of Gen. G. W. Randolph. While Mr. Seddon has not been a great deal in public position, he has always borne a high reputation for ability-and sagacious statesmanship. It will be remembered that Mr. Seldon was one of the Commissioners sent by the Virginia Legislature to attend the Peace Conference in Washington, near the close of Buchan an's Administration. He represented the Richmond District in the U.S. Congress from 1845 to 1847, and from 1849 to 1851. Richmond Enquirer.

Still Later from the North. We are indebted to Capt. James B Read of this city, (says the Petersburg Express) for New York and Baltimore papers of the morning and afternoon of the 15th. We find in the American ot Saturday at ternoon several items of interest.

Gen. Foster's army, which lately invaded Eastern North Carolina, had returned to Plymouth and was on the point of embarking for Newbern. Gen. Foster's reconnoissances were stopped within 5 miles of Tarboro, by finding a large force of rebels massed to give them battle.

The news from the Southwest is inter

A part of Crittenden's corps, under Matthews and Wood's Divisions entered Lebanon on the 10th inst., driving Morgan's cavalry out, and capturing a large amount of flour, bacon, wheat, boots, shoes, mules and prisoners.

On the next morning Morgan made a dash on Wood's camp, eight miles from Lebanon, and captured thirty of our men.

On the morning of the 9th Parker's Brigade entered Gallatin and encountered 600 of Morgan's men.

He captured twenty of them, and one piece of artillery.

All of Morgan's cavalry joined Breckinridge at Murfreesboro', and it is supposed had left for Chattanooga, whither a large Rebel force was going. It is reported that an immense amount of Rebel arms and supplies have been collected opposite Chattanooga without facilities for transportation across the river. Reports place Breckinridge's force at 20,000. Cheatham's force is reported to bayonet. be at Tallahoma.

FRANKLIN SHELLED BY THE ENEMY .-The enemy appeared in large torce in front of Franklin yesterday morning, and shelled the place furiously for upwards of two hours. They made strong attempts to cross the Blackwater, but were kept at bay by our forces, who in the skirmishing captured some twelve or fourteen of the invaders. The strength of the enemy at this point is supposed to be largely over a bri-

There has been constant skirmishing be tween the opposing forces on the Blackwater for several days past, but the results have been unimportant.

HEADQUARTERS MECE. RARGES. Camp Euroka, near Garysbury, N.C. Nov. 18, 1862.

Ms. Epiron: There was some demo stration made by the enemy in the neigh borhood of Hamilton during the past was The Yankous ascended with gunbasis considerable force up the Roanoke as far as the town of Hamilton in Martin county. They burned about one-half the town and went from house to house with axes destroying all the furniture, pleasure carriages. &c. Horses, cattle and hogs were want ingly destroyed or driven away. I have been credibly informed that the destardly villians inhumanly murdered several of the peaceable citizens of the county. They also carried away several hundred negroes. A gentleman, whose name I have forgot-ten, had the misfortune to have eighty odd of his taken by the thieving scoundrels. Others were mortified with the same sight but not to so great an extent.

Gen. Robinson, commanding the troops at this point, was timely notified of the raid and with the skill and ability that usually characterize our brave leaders be lead a portion of his command against the advancing column of the canibals, driving their unhallowed tread from the holy places of our beloved State. The gallant 63rd played a part in the drama that might be envied by the "Old Guards," evincing an unyielding spirit to drive the intesting Goths from our shore. Every man of the "Mecklenburg Rangers," at the toesin of battle rushed to arms, determined to nobly "do or die "-horse and rider was quickly and gayly seen pressing on to action. Our associate companies in arms were not delinquent to their duty. They seemed to say by their actions, that "It my country requires the poor offering of my li e, the victim shall be ready at the appointed hour of sacrifice." Last, but not least, the field and staff were always at their post, ready to lead their gallant corps wherever duty required.

We have now all returned to the quiet camp. The regiment received marching orders for Franklin on Saturday last, but a courier bringing the news that the encmy, from some unknown cause, were panic stricken and skedaddled; thereupon the order was immediately countermanded, and we were again allowed to enjoy the peaceful quiet of our camp.

The sanative condition of the regiment is tolerably good; though sickness is some what on the increase. There are a few cases of typhoid fever. With that exception, colds seem to be the prevailing disease. We have two cases of fever in our company - Elias McElhaney and John Sharp. The former is dangerously ill. The hove are in fine

MILITIA OF NORTH CAROLINA.

For t e Catewts Jo rnal.] Mr. Editor :- I am desirous to make a ew remarks through the columns of your worthy and distinguished paper in relation to the present state and condition of the militia of this State in the county where I reside. From everything that I can gather from the news of the day is that the Yankee toe are taking strong hold upon our coast, and it may be very probable that the militia will be called out during the comme Winter to aid in detending the coast. I think that there are every indications for such a course of things to happen during the Winter season. Should this turn out to be the case, then I would urge upon the Legislature, which is about to go into session for the State of North Carolina, to do something in that direction. To pass an act for an entire reorganization in the following way and manner: Should the militia be called, to authorize each and every militia Colonel to call his men together at his usual place of regimental muster, and there lay them off into companies of a hundred men each, or as the nature of the case will admit, and then each company organize by electing such men as they think are competent; men who will make competent officers and who are acquainted with the nature of a camp life and the way men ought to be generally

Now in the county where I reside I think there are at least sixteen pieces of companies numbering from 20 to 30 men, since the first Conscript Act has taken hold of the country, and if the second goes into effect it will reduce the companies down to almost no men at all, and consequently think the Legislature ought to do something concerning this matter, as I think i to be very nonsensical to go into service in such small squads as above mentioned. am out and out for a reorganization of the militia forthwith or as soon as practicable and be ready to march forth at a momente notice, and drive the invader from the happy soil of our sires and tell him that he has neither lot nor portion here, that back he must and shall go at the point of the

In conclusion I would urge it most earneatly upon that body to do something in that direction for ne poor militia men who are subject to be called at any moment.-Then give us one consolation who have to stand up as targets for the Yankees to shoot at. Give us the liberty and privilege to lay off our companies as batere mentioned .-Let us select our own officers, and officers who are competent to lead us through the horrors of war, and who will safely lead us on in battle in that trying and perilons hour when the bullets and grape shots are whistling about us like hail Then I say again do something for us for which we

The Murder of Mumford

"Crescent," the author of "Sketches of a Returned Prisoner," in the Mississippian, gives the following account of the diabolical act :

The deliberate murder of poor Mumford by Butler for being connected with the hauling down of the United States flag from the Mint, before the abolition forces occupied New Orleans, is well known by the world-but some of the circumstances have not been published. For two weeks before the death of poor Mumford, his wife went daily to Butler the Brute to intercede for her unfortunate husband; but her agonising supplications and affecting appeals were made to a depraved beast, lost to all sense of feeling, decency or honor. Butler had no ear for tales of sorrow-no heart for the pitiful pleadings of the innocent and helpless. Not only were the poor wife's appeals for mercy disregarded, but she was treated with a shameful want of respect, for Butler often laughed at her misery, and tanningly, invited her to call again. The guard on duty about Butler's office in the Custom House were moved by Mrs. Mumford's great distress, and when she appeared daily, they knew her at once, and respectfully allowed her to pass into the presence of the tyrant without restraint. But all her faithful devotion and untiring offorts were unavailing-Butler was thirsty for the blood of Mumford

When this brave martyr was about to be murdered, he stood forth in all the proud dignity of a man conscious of having done nothing to sully his good name—the only inheritance he could leave his heart bro ken family. Mumford embraced the opportunity given him to say a few words None who heard him can ever forget them. His voice was strong and clear. Looking up at the stars and stripes that floated high over the scene before him, and pointing upwards, he said, with great firmness and deliberation :

"I once loved and honored that flag. fought under it twice. But it has become hateful to me. I helped to pull it down trail it in the dust, and tour it to pioces. Under the circumstances, I felt that I was doing right! I would do so again. I consider that my manner of death will be no disgrace to my wife and child. My country will honor them. I die in a holy cause. Farewell to all !"

Let the name of Mumford, the second great martyr of this revolution, stand prominently beside that of the noble lack. sou; and on the truthful records of the history of this war, their names will be honored for their acts of patriotic devotion, while their memories will be gratefully cherished for their heroic self exerifice !

A Bold Threat.

Lincoln has, we suppose, "put down his foot firmly" again. No we judge from the following paragraph is a letter from Wash noton to the Chicago Times, relerring to the reported convention of the Northern vernors. The writer, claiming to speak by authority. says:

There is authority for saying that, if the men calling themselves "laval Governors" make any such domands on the United States Government as are indicated in a telegraphic despatch, dated Cincinnati, Oct. 24. with the conditions therein attached to

The Alleged Purplis of the "290." It has been stated in the New York pa pers that dispatches have been sent by the British Count at that dry to Admiral Milne, commander of the West India Squadron, in reference by the destruction of British property by the Confederate steamer Alahama, and also that three British war ressals had been sent in search of her the Expresses yer

Upon inquier suche proper source, we lourn that the simple ther of the destruction of British carenessy the Alabama has been telegraphed Admiral Milne, of the West India squadon, by the British Con oul in this city. The atory that already three British war loops have put out for the Alabama is presounced entirely dutrue at the Consul's office. A very late disparen from Hailifa makes no mention of any vessels of war having been ordered out. The fact of no destruction of British preperty is true, a the entire cargo of the Lafayette belonged to British owners, but

The brig was the Fanny Lewis belonging to John Frajer & Co. She grounded yesterday morning on the roef at New Inlet and we regree to learn that Captain Gardner, his mate and eight of his crew were drowned is trying to reach the shore. The brig lies out of the range of the blockaders. Only two of the crew of the brig were saved. They were brought off by Midshipman Meses, and picked crew with the largest garmon bost from Fisher: We presume that all the assistance that can be rendered, will be sent down to try and save the yessel and targo. The weather was very unfavorable peaterday and the chances were bad;

The Schoener was burned by a boat's crew of thirteen men sent for that purpose from one of the blockaders. The boat's crew was captured by Captain Newkerk, with a portion of his Cavalry, to whom information had been given by the crew of the schooner who escaped.—Wilmington

MOBILE, Nov. 20. The special correspondent of the Adveriser & Register, in a letter dated Abbo ville the 15th, eavs:-The Abolitionists have retired some distance, and from their movements it is difficult to conjecture their intentions. It is certain they have advanced from Jackson and Bolivar to go to Lagrange and Grand Junction. Grant has his Headquarters at the latter place. -Our army occupies a position of great strength, well fortified and our troops are anxious to attack the onemy, but it is not two days previous.

Point vesterday. Among the passengers are several ladies, sear relatives of Judge Campbell, of Alabama, and among the returned prisoners are several officers and surgeons. They have been three days on the James River and consequently bring no late news from the North. They all represent that Burnside's army was totally demoralized by McClellan's removal, that event nearly caused a revolution among the Federal troops -Whole regiments, it is said, threw down their arms, and those who were ordered to arrest them refused to do so. Gen. Holleck visted the army and succeeded in pacify. ing the malcontents.
